He would not Woo again.

Twas but a word, a careless word, In pride and passion spoken; But with that word the chain that bound Two loving hearts, was broken. The hasty wrath has passed away; The bitter words remain; In vain the lady weeps and sighs; He will not woo again.

No other love may light Aer path-Yet changing seasons come and go, And find them still apart, Her once bright check is paler now; His bears a trace of pain ; Their days are sorrowful, and yet-

He will not woo again.

They meet as strangers, calm and cold;
As calmly, coldly part;
And none may guess that tranquil mien Concesis a tortured heart. To him the world hath lost its light; For her all joys are vain; Nor hope nor memory brings relief-He will not woo again.

Alas! that love, long tried and warm, Should wither in an hour! Alas! that pride o'er human hearts Should wield such fearful power ! Oh! weep thou not for those who die For them all teurs are vain; But weep o'er living hearts grown col Who ne'er may love again.
